

Ethan Avery Photography

Print Policy

Professional editing and vendors

I guarantee amazing quality of prints when ordered through Ethan Avery Photography's website only. I use professional vendors whose printers have been color calibrated to providing the highest quality of prints. Also all the images can be previewed in a special proofing process, you can specify the crop you want before a print is made and can determine the image you selected will look amazing. Also, if there are any specific editing requests you can make them at the time of ordering.

Printing the images yourself

Once a cd is purchased and the initial 5 edits are included, that is the end of Ethan Avery Photography's involvement with the printing process. Because you are choosing not to use us as a print vendor, I can not possibly monitor the quality of every print vendor. Some print too red, green, yellow or even blue and can essentially ruin a wonderful photograph. The only way I can explain this would be in the form of an analogy. Say you've been training for a marathon for a whole year, you are ready, except you decided to bring high heels to run in instead of your running shoes. This will not be optimal, and although you may still get to the finish line, it will be less than optimal and your feet are going to feel terrible!

We appreciate your business and understanding on our print policy.

Additional Edits

Additional edit requests can be accommodated at a charge of $5 per image. Although some edit requests may seem simple and easy, others require a major amount of time and effort so to keep costs down in those cases, all editing requests are standardized.

January 2010